GIFTS FOR THE BRIDE

Note: do a thing concerning the recutive of which we was in doubt. Pithy the Younger.

REMEMBER that wedding gifts bride to be even though you may never have mer her and you are a friend only of the bridgersom to be. If You receive invitations to the wedding or know of it before it occurs then the gift should always be sent before the ceremony and the present addressed in the bride's maiden name.

Silver and other articles to be murked with an initial should bear the first letter of the bride's maiden native usually. There are, bowever some young women who prefer to fol low the continental European fashion and have their silver, etc., marked with their married infilial know this to be the case have your gift marked in this way.

If you do not know of the marriage until after it has occurred the girl should still be sent to the bride only, but it should of course be addressed to her married name.

A worlding gift may be something personal for the bride or something that is for both bride and groom as an article of household decoration or furnishing. It should never be some thing that is especially suitable for the bridegroom, as for instance, smoking stand.

The understanding usually is that If you receive invitations simply to the wedding ceremony at the church to present is due, but that if you are invited to the house to the wedding or a wedding reception a present is in order. Now, it is never in reality bad form not to send a wedding present it you do not feet able or if you do not think enough about the persons from whom the invitation is received to wish to do so. If you do not send a present however, simply through indifference then do not attend the wedding party but write timely regrets.

Even though you are not invited to the house or in fact are not invited to the wedding at all, if the one married is a dear friend you are quite right in sending a present if you wish to do so In order not to give the bride some thing that she would not care for it is permissible to make inquiries concerning her wishes on the subject. It is better, perhaps, to make these through a third person and not to ask the bride personally, but rather a sister or close friend.

it is customary for the bridegroom to give the bride a present of some sort of jewelry on the occasion of the wedding but this is by no means es The bride sometimes also makes the bridegroom a present at this time, but this is even less essen tinl. In Persia the bridegroom gives the bride-to-be a present of two comour own country the bridegroom must never make the bride a present of any part of her trousseau and, though he may give her jewelry that she wears on her wedding dress and her bouquet be must supply no other part of ber bridal array.
